Dear Naomi Shenkar,

We, at Berkman, Wechsler, Bloom & Co., have now been enjoying the translation services of Legal Translations Ltd. for more than a decade. You have, over this period, translated for us – from Hebrew to English – legal documents in a wide variety of fields, including fields that require understanding of varied professional terminology. We also receive significant assistance from you in translations from German to Hebrew and from German to English, and sometimes too in condensing German language documents into Hebrew, and linguistic analysis of legal terms in German. All the tasks are always accomplished in the best possible manner and it is evident that the team consists of experienced and proficient attorneys.

We have on more than one occasion required translation of a large volume of material to the tightest of deadlines, a matter that dictates collaboration between several of your translators, and it is obvious that they are accustomed to teamwork and to working together to provide a translation of excellent quality even under the most severe time constraints.

Our collaboration with you, throughout the entire period of our working together, is characterized by professionalism of the highest order and top notch service, of which we are highly appreciative.

Many thanks,

Adv. Ofir Bloom
